Don't you try to deny
There is life elsewhere
So many other suns
Shining with pride over distant skies
Scientific researches is nearly doomed to fail
Use your own perception to find what you seek
Close your eyes
Search inside
And you will find
The obvious truth
Close your eyes
And relax a while
And you will find
The key to it all
Tell us why should we try

To find similiar lifeforms
We will never find
Beings like us in this vast extent
Listen to the starworld communicating
Through billions and billions of coded messages
Close your eyes
Search inside
And you will find
The obvious truth
Close your eyes
And relax a while
And you will find
The key to it all
