We need ice picks to share these houses on the beachfront where tits cling and time is empty your trap is a town in the daylight, in the daylight i'll come home, i'll come home quickly and i see them run and i see them run i am empty and we watch them run and we watch them run you're stealing legs from me everyone's afraid of one-night plays where they can't be who they want to be oh, this harness can't ride anything, through the sunsets and dry humps, a and i left outlets hidden underneath your thighs.

we need driveways to be kinder on the asphalt where lips shine and time is empty
your trap is a town
in the daylight, in the daylight,

we are one-night stands that can't walk away. harnesses that can't hold weight
