Importing oil exporting blood
We'll take their barrels of oil by the barrel of a gun Importing capital, exporting death We'll keep dropping our bombs until there's none of them left We don't need actual evidence to seal a nation's fate just the promise of profit that their resources create Unleashing our forces to preserve the American dream by tapping their oil reserves to run our machines
We rule this world
We answer to no one We've used the U.N. in the past to legitimize our crimes but if they won't stand with us now, then fuck them We are the most powerful empire this world has ever seen and we'll have you either on your knees or under our heel We'll force you to disarm while our fingers on the button to continue our reign as the worlds biggest gluttons War propaganda plagues our country
American perception is not reality
Our leaders have a war mentality
We're living in a war mentality
We feed on fear
We prey on weakness
We drop bombs on people in the name of freedom
We shower civilians with shells of depleted uranium
We want you disarmed so you can't resist us when we liberate your land for American interests
The companies anxiously await their sound investment
War propaganda plagues our country
American perception is not reality
Our leaders have a war mentality
We're living in a war mentality
We devour it all We're the global cannibal
With the brits by our side we'll bomb them back into the Stone Age to punish them for how uncivilized they are Our superiority and first-world arrogance entitle us to the double standards elevating ourselves above criticism and consequence and justifying anticipatory self defense We see through your lies You can stand on your own We're not with the terrorists, we're not with you and we're not alone You're spilling blood to make oilmen richer and redeem daddy for his miserable failure but the people you're killing, have a right to exist We can't let in come to this

War propaganda plagues our country
American perception is not reality
Our leaders have a war mentality
We're living in a war mentality
