I remember you in autumn leaves
In the river underneath the trees
I can feel your heartbeat in the breeze
Crossing this bridge

Watching closely I can see debris
From the cigarette burned at your feet
With your arms stretched out to feel release
Let them embrace you

The world is fighting now
People falling to the ground
What makes it right to end it now?

Cherish your life
Though the bad can get worse
Strap on your converse and say
Let's walk off the night
Get off the ledge
And cherish your life always

As the cold begins to shiver knees
Your lungs pump out what you can't see
Hands cry out and bleed in misery
Please offer it up

The last thing I want to see
Is doubting what you mean to me
Whom I love love love

Cherish your life
Though the bad can get worse
Strap on your converse and say
Let's walk off the night
Get off the ledge
And cherish your life always

Always always
Offer it up

Cherish your life
Though the bad can get worse

Strap on your converse and say
Let's walk off the night
Get off the ledge
And cherish your life always
