If my whole life was just a dream,
Would you become a part of it?
Become part of my memories,
A part of my subconscious mind

Trying to describe my feelings,
Wondering if there is a meaning
To fill this dream with love and hate,
Erase you before its all to late.

Remove you from inside my thoughts,
With all the pain I've held and fought,
Let you leave without a trace,

(Chorus) I never want to see your face again,
I'll never let my discomfort show,
There's just one thing I want you to know
I never want to see your face again.

I never want to see your face again.

Just dive into the deepest part,
Of my cold and empty broken heart,
To find that when you look inside

You'll see where my old love resides.

The heartache that I've had for you,
For all the years I've fought on through.
But now that you have left for good

I never want to see your face again,
I'll never let my discomfort show,
There's just one thing I want you to know
I never want to see your face again.

(Bridge) I've tried to create a new beginning,
And stop all of my emotions from winning
Why is it so hard to see,
That all this love is killing me
For you again I'll never cry
Just leave now and let me die.

(Chorus) I never want to see your face again,
I'll never let my discomfort show,
There's just one thing I want you to know
I never want to see your face again
