Did You Know

Written and performed by: Chris Ryan

Album: Colors

Did you know that love is a hard thing to find Especially when you're out on the front lines
I thought I found the only one that wouldn't leave me to die

Did you know that I stayed awake all night
Just hoping you would realize that I was still alive

All I want is someone to sing to,
Someone who won't leave every new moon
Someone who will warm me up in a cold room
Someone I can make smile

So I'll wait for you even though I don't really know
you
You're the one who visits in my dreams
You tell me you will never leave
So I'll wait for you even though I don't really know you
You're the one who visits in my dreams
You tell me you will never leave
Did you know that the moon does its light
And it tends to remind that I'm alright
I feel that I can walk alone even though she left me to die
Did you know that I'm down the street tonight
And I need to find a way to fall, fall asleep this time

All I want is someone to sing to
Someone who won't leave every new moon
Someone will warm me up in a cold room
Someone I can make smile.

So I'll wait for you even though I don't really know
you
You're the one who visits in my dreams
You tell me you will never leave
So I'll wait for you even though I don't really know
you
You're the one who visits in my dreams

And you tell me you will never leave.
