

Bel Canto "Bombay"

I've been to Bombay
I've seen what a man can do
He climbs up a straight rope right up to the clear full-moon
And "boom", he is gone
Yeah, heaven is not that far
And limbs from a body are falling down on the ground Gee! It must be hard to do Yes, it is true, yes, it is true
I think the limbs belonged to an orang-outang, orangoutang,
orang-outang
I've been to Bombay
I've seen what a man can do
He climbs up a straight rope
A monkey is with him too
And "boom", he's gone to heaven He's mighty daring mighty, right he must be some kind'a guru
He's out of orbit, out of orb...
It seems as if the rope was held by one of the Gods, one of the Gods
So tight! Not like elephant's trunks: They wobbly-wob, wobbly-wob,
wobbly-wob
I've been to Bombay
I've been to Bombay
In my youth
My wild youth
I've been to Bombay
I've been to Bombay
In my youth
Dadaeeaaoo!
And "boom", he's gone to heaven
He's mighty daring, mighty, right he must be some
kind'a guru
He's out of orbit, out of orbit
The crowd went hurly-burly
He never came down, never came down He must have gone to heaven and out of orbit, out of orbit
No, I would never lie to you

Yes, it's true, yes, it is true
