I heard Your song coming over the hill
I know it seemed like the world stood still
You were singin' a melody that caught me by surprise Yeah it sounded familiar to me, like I'd known it all my life

And I keep looking down as I move in closer
My heart is racing now with fear and wonder
Could I come back to You so long on my own
From where I am, I know this is not my home

You're the one I believe
A king and friend has always been holding onto me
You're the one that I have seen
Your life and death the endless breath breathing into
me

Just the mention of Your name
And I know, I know I've found love
'Cause You're the one

High in a hidden world is where You are found
Where every living thing circles around
I find myself again where I used to be
With the rescued ones falling on my knees

'Cause You're the one I believe
A king and friend has always been holding onto me
You're the one that I have seen
Your life and death the endless breath breathing into
me

Just the mention of Your name
And I know, I know I've found love
'Cause You're the one

In Your presence there is mercy
In the fear, joy and the tears
It's Your goodness that keeps on keeps on Calling us here, drawing us near

'Cause You're the one I believe

A king and friend has always been holding onto me
You're the one that I have seen
Your life and death the endless breath breathing into
me

You're the one I believe
A king and friend has always been holding onto me
You're the one that I have seen
Your life and death breath into me

Just the mention of Your name
And I know, I know I've found love
'Cause You're the one

You're the one
You're the one
You're the one
