One day i went out for love not to feel so lonely no more wanted to touch the sky above but all i could taste was the void it's always just about men we love we care we hope we share then i found that special love it was so deep and true but then sweetness turned sour and i turned blue and now i got this special muse but he says he don't want me so all i can do is sing the blues 'cause if you're a woman and if you're straight i'm sure you'll agree
