"Then She Goes"

Following the sea of her mind she goes longing for a sign and then she goes falling in his arms un-expecting and lost then she goes looking for a way to let her lust end, go astray all she can find is confusion animal instinct, reason i don't think it is love, babe and i don't want to hurt you so please don't fall in love, babe and i won't sell my soul yet following the sea of her heart she goes falling deeper and despite all the risks at stake she goes touching his hands it seems all she wants is too far from him but now what she wants is to be with him wrap up in his arms to forget him but then reason strikes and then she comes clean
