I don't know if the spell that you're under
Is slowly driving you out of your mind
You appear like you're lightning and thunder
And that is really too much
You don't have to prove to me how beautiful you look when you start acting cool
To love yours getting too rough

Because it's never enough
You're taking everything
But it is never enough
You're pushing me, cross the borderline, lady

You are strong, you believe in notion
You can get anything that you want
Never stop, you are always in motion
Immune to every touch
And still you wanna prove to me how beautiful
You look when you start acting cool
You play this game so tough

But it is never enough
You're taking everything
But it is never enough
You're pushing me, cross the borderline, lady

I should have told you
'bout the feeling of a heartache
'cos I wanna hold you in my arms
Full of love

But it is never enough
You're taking everything
But it is never enough
You're pushing me, cross the borderline, lady
