"Loud Speaker Over The Phone"

When you left last night
Holding back was quite the same
When you asked "Why not?"
Every day's a different day

So this is how you're known
Loud speaker over telephone
In glass cages we hide
To rebuild our one track minds

Who would have ever thought this road
Wouldn't lead to a safe place?
Visualize your product
I can't stand this anymore

A stab in the back a slap in the face
My routine rant it's all the same

As the stars fall from your eyes
And I'm thankful for those lies
As the stars fall from your eyes
As the stars fall
The man that you once knew is gone
A burning scent in a lover's heart
And past the road there's a one way street
The windows close and I'm dreaming
