Only one shadow on the wall
Just one candle burning bright
I hold your picture to my heart
I'm alone inside the night

The sun comes up in China
The lights go on in Rome

Half the world is waiting
For someone they can hold
Half the world is praying
They'll never be alone

Every time you leave me
A part of me goes too
Half your world is waiting here for you

I reach across an empty bed
I hear your whisper in my ear
But like the sun without the moon
It's half a dream without you here

The train that takes you from me
Brings somebody home

Half the world is waiting
For someone they can hold
Half the world is praying
They'll never be alone

For every time you leave me
A part of me goes too
Half your world is waiting here for you

Baby, the earth stands still
When I'm lying next to you
No matter where you go
Our whole world's inside this room

The sun comes up in China
The lights go on in Rome

Half the world is waiting
For someone they can hold
Half the world is praying
They'll never be alone

And every time you leave me
My heart breaks in two
And half the world is waiting here for you

I'm waiting here
I'm waiting here for you
I'm waiting here
