Tell me who do you think you see, you're standing in
your corner
Looking out on me, you think I'm so predictable
Tell me who do you think I am? Looks can be deceiving
Better guess again
Tell me what you see when you look at me

You're probably thinking that I want those things Cash, cars, diamond rings
Thinkin' on my side the grass is green
But you don't know where I have been
I could be a wolf in disguise
I could be an angel in your eyes
Never judge a book by it's cover

I could be a crook or your lover
I could be the one or the other
If you'd look beneath you'd discover
You just don't know me

Tell me who do you think you see, you're standing in
your corner
Looking out on me, you think I'm so predictable
Tell me who do you think I am? Looks can be deceiving
Better guess again
Tell me what you see when you look at me

You look at your neighbor
Thinking what a guy 'Cuz he's got a 9-5
And I bet that you don't realize
He stalks you while you sleep at night
But you're scared of the homeless guy
Think he's gonna wanna start a fight
Never judge a book by its cover

I could be a crook or your lover
I could be the one or the other
If you'd look beneath you'd discover
You just don't know me

Tell me who do you think you see, you're standing in
your corner

Looking out on me, you think I'm so predictable
Tell me who do you think I am? Looks can be deceiving
Better guess again
Tell me what you see when you look at me

Tell me who do you think you see, you're standing in
your corner
Looking out on me, you think I'm so predictable
Tell me who do you think I am? Looks can be deceiving
Better guess again
Tell me what you see when you look at me

Now tell me, who do you think I am? Huh?
You don't even know me
How did you think about this?

I could be a crook or your lover
I could be the one or the other
If you'd look beneath you'd discover
You just don't know me

Tell me who do you think you see, you're standing in
your corner
Looking out on me, you think I'm so predictable
Tell me who do you think I am? Looks can be deceiving
Better guess again
Tell me what you see when you look at me

Tell me who do you think you see, you're standing in
your corner
Looking out on me, you think I'm so predictable
Tell me who do you think I am? Looks can be deceiving
Better guess again
Tell me what you see when you look at me
