Oh no, I think I'm falling in love again
it's nothing new
It's just that this time, its with you

I stand amazed that a beauty like yours could exist in a world like this and that you would see me and my name would fall from your lips i wanna cry like the child that i am to think i may never hear it again Is this the wrong time for the right thing, is it anything at all?
i'm helpless like a teardrop who just does not wanna fall.
i will dry up into a puddle of salt and i'll sting as i lick my own wounds

Oh no, I think I'm falling in love again

it's nothing new

I wake each morning with my body on fire cooled only by the touch of your hands each day thats to follow and each night that is to come i am breathing just to feel them again have you understood what i am trying to explain? its this delicately torturing pleasant little pain I wonder now do you think of me in this same kind of way.
do you think of me at all?

Oh no, I think I'm falling in love again
it's nothing new
