

Bellamy Brothers

"The Gate"

Visit "The Gate" on MotoLyrics.com

In the hope I'll forget I'll waitIt's a chance I'll take oh yeahIn the hope I'll forget I'll waitFor the timeIn the spring I'll watch my stepWhile the night-time passes byWhen a smile suits me all aloneI'll be fineThere's got to be a better song to singBefore I hang upon your shoulderTelling the truth it may be bolder this timeThere's got to be a better song to singThat makes a lonely one less cold ohBefore I hang upon your shoulder and cryWatching friends playing in the dirtFeeling hard but feeling hurtBy the sadness that wastes my timeIt's a crimeCounting acts which I must addTo collect sad memoriesFrom a past I'd soon forgetSwap or leaveThere's got to be a better song to singBefore I hang upon your shoulderTelling the truth it may be bolder this timeThere's got to be a better song to singThat makes a lonely one less cold ohBefore I hang upon your shoulder and cryAt the gate I'll wave goodbyeTo the friends that were my liesAnd I'll see them off at dawnFeeling wiseFeeling wiseFeeling wise

Visit Bellamy Brothers page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.