

Bell Book & Candle "Destiny"

Visit "Destiny" on MotoLyrics.com

Is there any place tonight? Will the sun come out and light

The shadows creeping through this barren land?
Nothing is familiar now looking back I see some how
The future holding our it's empty hands

But it must be destiny, not left to chance
With a wave of a hand, in a wasted land, we dance
But it must be destiny, for only we too will know
What the meaning of love can do

No truth my soul can trust will sleep come rescue us
And I lay my head down on a bed of steel
Love will never be the same to close to risk the pain
No touch of skin feels how it used to feel

But it must be destiny, not left to chance
With a wave of a hand, in a wasted land, we dance
But it must be destiny, for only we too will know
What the meaning of love can do

I'm gonna be the strength you need tonight
I'm gonna stand beside you when you just can't try to hold on
I'm not giving up on the plans we made
If there's a chance I believe we can find a way
I won't let you give up now

But it must be destiny, not left to chance
With a wave of a hand, in a wasted land, we dance
And it must be destiny, for only we too will know
What the meaning of love

But it must be destiny, not left to chance
With a wave of a hand, in a wasted land, we dance
And it must be destiny, for only we too will know
What the meaning of love can do

Can do

