Thanks to Lela Chisholm for these lyrics.

What can I do, what can I say to tell you
Everything I'm feelin'
I never knew, love that was true
Until your heart showed me the meaning
It's more than a miracle
Brighter than silver, more precious than gold
I want the world to know
And now that I found it, I won't let it go

All the money in the world
Couldn't buy this girl
No fancy cars, no diamonds or pearls
I've got everything I need
Right here with me
A heart to trust, and a reason to believe
No I wouldn't trade your love
For all the money in the world

Out on my own, searchin' alone
Until the day I looked in your eyes
Took me apart, opened my heart
So many things you made me realise
Nothing else matters now
I don't hear the madness
I don't feel the pain
Your heart showed me how
That love can move mountains
Again and again

Chorus

Nothing else matters now
I don't hear the madness
I don't feel the pain
Your heart showed me how
That love can move mountains
Again and again

Chorus

And it's brighter than silver
More precious than gold
Something you feel in your heart and soul
And it's more than a miracle
More than a dream
Taken me places that I've never seen
