Do my eyes deceive me, or is that destiny that I see
It's been a twisted road to come to this very moment
So many places, so many faces
All coming at me in waves
Get on my existential groove train and we're all gonna get it together

The answer
(repeat)

How can it be, in my dire time of need
That you could disappear
Without giving me the answer

How can it be, in my dire time of need
That you would disappear
Without giving me the answer

Say what you will
But I know my time is coming soon
And I rise as it comes close
What I dread is what I need
Fear grabbing at my feet
Running wild, running far
Deeper now, I think I understand
