There's no need to be thinking for yourself or at all The overrated are locked inside of man, the weak and small
The universe is stalled, but your standards still stand tall
The digression of the civillized, preparing for the fall...
The fall!

Expanding the boundaries of only one side
Seeking the real and exposing their pride
If no one's around to fear what they say...
All power to slaves

We're freed from the inferior shell
There was no way to tell
A sacred new beginning when their feeble kingdom fell...
They fell!

Expanding the boundaries of only one side
Seeking the real and exposing their pride
If no one's around to fear what they say...
All power to slaves

We firmly established the dull and behaved
Now no ones around to fear what they say...
All power to slaves
