Where is the hope today
And where is the passion?
It seemed just like yesterday
Love was in fashion

A rumor that was spread around
All the answers had been found
And then it felt like moving on
And suddenly was gone

You want a reason, I'll give you reason
Don't change your ideals with every season
Just look inside yourself for explanation
And make your own life a celebration

Do you dream of better days
Gazing through a purple haze
Bathed in ultra-violet rays
Or do you want your conscience raised?

You want a reason, I'll give you reason
Don't change your ideals with every season
Just look inside yourself for explanation
And make your own life a celebration

You've got the power, power to be strong
An education that should be lifelong
So don't be a victim of expectation
Just make your own life a celebration

You want a reason, I'll give you reason
Don't change your ideals with every season
Just look inside yourself for explanation
And make your own life a celebration

You've got the power, power to be strong
An education that should be lifelong
So don't be a victim of expectation
Just make your own life a celebration

You want a reason, I'll give you reason
Don't change your ideals with every season

Just look inside yourself for explanation
And make your own life a celebration

You've got the power, power to be strong
An education that should be lifelong
So don't be a victim of expectation
Just make your own life a celebration
