Well, tell me one thing, is there madness in this reason?
And tell me something that I never knew before
The consequences of my actions aren't confusing
They're just wanting the direction that I've never had before

I was happy, now I'm walking on the water
I was laughing, now I'm floating in the air, 'cause I found you
These gut reactions are the best thing you can go by Premonitions are the second, that's for sure
(That's for sure, woah)

I'm caught by your eyes; they just surprised me, overpowered me
I stand here waiting in the calm before the storm
I'm delirious, as happy as you're crazy
It's nothing serious or difficult to cure, 'cause I found you
Yeah, I found you

Your smile is like the ocean, your kiss the seven seas
Your eyes like magic potions, they just enrapture me
I promise my affection for all eternity
You are my resurrection, you mean the world to me
