So fragile is the earthly domain of human life
Much it wriggles in agony
When shadow of evil will is laid upon it It's destiny was to be broken to pieces, to be torn by the power of deathlust
It is the clandestine fire, burning inside, feeding the evil will Burning and scorning until it needs to be manifested Lust sickness, for evil will Blood runs among the tears, when flesh is used like...
Carving the manifest in living skin Clandestine lust, seeking pleasure from suffering humanity Leaving signs of degraded humanity, to haunt among the herd
There are beasts among you.
