Like a red light flashing,
Like a message from the door of a she'd
I have never before been in or entered.
Like a red light flashing at the door of a sin
I have never before been interested in.
Like a human being, like a human being
Like a human being, I have desires also.
And like a human being, I'm a human being,
I'm a human being.
These doors make me ever more so.

What if I told you you were the one all along
But I never said nothing cause I wanted you to know...
What if I told you you were the one
But I never said nothing cause I wanted you to know
These things about me?

I was once a child in a house by the sea.
I may be made of matter,
But my heart's all hope and memory.
I became a child in the heart of a ship.
I fell in the water cause the water called me into it.
Like a human being, like a human being,
Like a human being, I've had my fears also.
Like a human being, I'm a human being,
I'm a human being.
These storms make me ever more so.

What if I told you you were the one all along
But I never said nothing cause I wanted you to know...
What if I told you you were the one all along
But I never said nothing cause I wanted you to know
These things about me?
