Hey now
Where do we fit into this
Were just trying to move along
Were trying to keep ourselves connected
And it feels so strange
To see you here like this
I wonder how your world has been spinning
Without me
Your life is a sight that should be seen
So close your eyes now and look deeper
On an axis there's the universal dream
Turning faster than the dreamer
Hey now
And I might seem a bitter bittersweet
After everything we've been through
You said nothing ever would defeat
The battalion me and you
Hey now
Looking back to the road that we were on
When we could feel our spirits rising
Up ahead we saw somewhere to belong
Underneath broader horizons
Hey now
