pictures of carbon burned off of resources no voice of honesty worth transmitting at all the signal has no where to go ui don't feel privaledge to be at the end while we're blaming look in the mirror it's our indifference that makes us weak

it's our complacency that makes us a killing machine of productivity the dream was not instability smoke stacks infultrate our fields deception as reality

concrete and asphalt are spreading like fire twisting the outlook of popular desire all the solutions are in our hands but the answers have no where to go i don't feel privaledge

smoke stacks infultrate our fields
deception as reality
