Hello again,
Do you remember me, my friend?
I'm the one that you left alone,
Shivering outside in the cold.
I was wondering,
Are you happy now?
Do you sleep in peace,
Knowing you kicked me down,
To get what you need?
Was it really worth lying to me?
But I'm not bitter,
One day you'll see.

The whole world moves in circles,
One day you're up, then you're down baby.
Life is full of unexpected hurdles,
All trying to get over,
All trying to break free.
One day the tables will turn, you'll see,
Love will bring you back to me.

Blast from the past,
Last time we met you turned your back.
I wasn't good enough.
Out on the edge,
But did you care if I was alive or dead?
So I'm wondering,
How do you live without a care?
All of your sins,
Must make life hard to bare.
Was it really worth lying to me?
But I'm not bitter,
One day you'll see.

The whole world moves in circles,
One day you're up, then you're down baby.
Life is full of unexpected hurdles,
All trying to get over,
All trying to break free.
One day the tables will turn, you'll see,
Love will bring you back to me.

Know I'll see you someday soon,
But I won't do the same to you cause,
It all comes back around.
What's lost will be found.
See, love has a fine way of working it out.

The whole world moves in circles,
One day you're up, then you're down baby.
Life is full of unexpected hurdles,
All trying to get over,
All trying to break free.
One day the tables will turn, you'll see,
Love will bring you back to me.

One day the tables will turn you'll see,
Love will bring you back to me.
