Now just because you're pretty, and you think you're mighty wise
You tell me that you love me then you wore those big brown eyes
When I saw you last week, your eyes were turning black You'll find that guy that beat you up, ask him to take you back
Chorus:
Don't roll those bloodshot eyes at me, I can tell you've been out on the spree Well it's plain that you're lyin' when you say that you will be cryin'
Don't roll those bloodshot eyes at me
I used to spend my money to make you look real sweet I wanted to be proud of you when we walk down the street
Now don't ask me to dress you up in a satin fan and silk Your eyes look like two cherries in a glass of buttermilk
chorus
(Solo)
So I guess a little romance has finally set me down
You should join the circus, you make a real good clown Your eyes look like a row now, I'm scared to smell your breath
You better shut your peabones before you bleed to death
chorus
Don't roll those bloodshot eyes at me
