This old life is falling away
It's no good, everything above my head is gray
Busted door and holes in the screen
It's no place for the children of a King

But You promised me
That mercy has the wings to make me fly
High above what's dying here

Into the life of Heaven
Forgetting about what's down below me
The life of Heaven
You raised me with Your Son

Seasons gone without any rain
Wilted brown, until the day Your Spirit came

And showed me
That Your mercy is the water that will feed
My thirsty vines will grow

Into the life of Heaven
Forgetting about what's down below me
The life of Heaven
You raised me up and brought me to
The life of Heaven
Forgetting about what's down below me
The life of Heaven
You raised me with Your Son

And it's only by Your grace
That I'll ever find a way
Out of this place
