I don't tell the future, but I can't care
Cause when I lay beside you, it's enough that you're there
Enough that you're there
Just laying on our backs and falling in love
What about tomorrow?
What about the next day?
What about the day after, the day after that, baby?

What about after this love's gone?
Is there a better love coming on?
Is there a place in your heart for me?
Is there a chance that we can't see?
After this love is gone

If love was money we're spending, like a millionaire
There could come a time when love is no longer there
It's no longer there
If we both come to our senses will we still be in love?
Tell me, what about tomorrow?
What about the next day?
What about the day after, the day after that, baby?

What about after this love's gone?
Is there a better love coming on?
Is there a place in your heart for me?
Is there a chance that we can't see?
After this love is gone

Bridge
Everything else comes down eventually.
And nothing lasts forever,
Or does it just keep getting better?

If we both come to our senses will we still be in love?
Tell me, what about tomorrow?
What about the next day?
What about the day after, the day after that?

What about after this love's gone?
Is there a better love coming on?

Is there a place in your heart for me?
Is there a chance that we can't see?

What about after this love's gone?
Is there a better love coming on?
Is there a place in your heart for me?
Is there a chance that we can't see?
After this love is gone After it's gone. When it's gone.
