Funny how she still remembers
Those words of love that got him nowhere
Even though she knows he's calling
She never finds the way to show her feelings
She doesn't mind the hours she's keeping
He's waking when she's sleeping
For him it means so much to hear her voice

She's home tonight
Silver's home tonight
And in the morning light
She'll feel much better
Home tonight, She'll stay home tonight
She'll be sleeping light
Till he calls her again

Even though they didn't know it
Standing in the shadow love was waiting
She'd been his friend for such a long time
But never told the boy her heart was breaking
Silver had no way of knowing
That secretly his love was growing
And now he's coming back to stay

She's home tonight
Silver's home tonight
And in the morning light
They're gonna be together
Home tonight, Silver's home tonight
She can hear him saying "I'll never leave you again"

She could only wait
Till the time was right
It was never too late

She's home tonight
Silver's home tonight
And in the morning light
They're gonna be together
Home tonight
Silver's home tonight
She can hear him saying "I'll never leave you again"
