

Clifford T. Ward "Climate Of Her Favour"

Visit "Climate Of Her Favour" on MotoLyrics.com

There's a frost on the fields and a chill to the night
Where the vixen screams and the dog fox fights
And all the world is lying still
In silent ease and frozen will.

There's a change in the season and a change in you
From the girl I wanted to the one I knew
And I've grown tired of trying to save her
And trying to reach the climate of your favour.

Ice on the water, snow in the sky
Darkness falls to the night owl's cry
And all the world is sleeping still
In silent ease and frozen will.

There's a change in the season and a change in you

From the time we started to the time we're through
And I've grown tired of trying to save her
And trying to reach the climate or your favour.

INSTRUMENTAL

Yes I've grown tired of trying to save her
And trying to reach the climate or your favour.

Visit Clifford T. Ward page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.