She may smile, she may cry
She may turn away from me
Whatever she decides
There's some uncertainty.

She may say she will leave
She may hesitate and stay
Oh, I don't really believe
She will go away.

She is takin' up all my time
And there are things I need to attend
She is makin' up her mind
And I feel we're near the end.

She may say straightforwardly

"I don't love you any more"
It may be that definite
But I hope she's not so sure.

People come, people go
Barely catchin' what they see
Well she came and so she went
With some uncertainty.
