

Clint Black "Harmony"

Visit "Harmony" on MotoLyrics.com

Clint Black & Kenny Loggins

With the rivers running to the sky
To rain across the land
Our children's children's sands of time
Are slipping through our hands.

Take heed in what's become of Eden
You and me, from seed to seed
Just how does your garden grow?
It's likely only Heaven knows.

Harmony -- From the very start
Weren't we changing it?
Don't we all agree, that in every part
We're more than rearranging harmony.

Do we move the mountains that we climb
Just because we're here?
Can we show the forests to the blind
To see the trees we clear?

And if Mother Nature holds her ground
And our seeds are still around
Will we watch our garden grow
To something only Heaven knows?

Harmony -- We're the only one's
Who can't live in it
Everything and everyone
Can get along in every way in harmony.

Harmony -- From the very start
Weren't we changing it?
Dont we all agree that in every part
We're more than rearranging harmony.

Chorus:
I believe it's gonna be
When everybody here can sing along
Singin' in harmony
Stand on up, say the word

Together, all of our voices can be heard
Everybody knows the key
To livin' in harmony.

Take heed in what's become of Eden
You and me, from seed to seed
Just how does your garden grow?
It's likely only Heaven knows.

Harmony -- We all just have to believe
Don't we all agree, that in every part
We're more than rearranging harmony.

Chorus:
I believe it's gonna be
When everybody here can sing along
Singin' in harmony
(Stand on up, I believe)
I believe in harmony
I believe
(Ooo, I believe, everybody knows)
Say the word, harmony (Stand on up)
I know we can do it now
I believe, I believe in harmony
Yeah, harmony
Everybody knows the key
To livin' in harmony...

Visit Clint Black page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.