Verse one:

I remember you light and lovely,
Floating here by my side,
Thinkin' I could be part of you,
And see the things most people hide,
Now you won't even let me near,
When you finally come around,
I can't help but feelin',
There's something weighin' you down,

Chorus:

There's someone else behind that look in your eyes,
Someone else tellin' you to tell me goodbye,
You've been here but I haven't seen you for a while,
That look on your face tells me that,
Someone else's making you smile

Verse two:

Where did that woman go,
Who could always make me laugh,
Making me more than whole,
Just being my better half,
Now I got this empty feeling,
But I know there's something there,
I could stop you leavin',
But I can't find you anywhere,

Chorus:

There's someone else behind that look in your eyes,
Someone else tellin' you to tell me goodbye,
You've been here but I haven't seen you for a while,
That look on your face tells me that,
Someone else's making you smile,

Like I used to,
Like I need to,
Find my way back in,
To see you again,

You've been here but I haven't seen you for a while,
That look on your face tells me that,

Someone else's making you smile.
