Snow up on the mountains sun layn' low across the clouded sky iÃ,Ã´ve been feeding this fire for so long the flame is gone i could second guess the storm tell my heart to leave the warm but iÃ,Ã´ll just stay inside thereÃ,Ã´s no way that iÃ,Ã´ll take any chances of my own what if i get it wrong Another season come and gone Robin hardly sang her song for too few summer skies All the tourists barely even said goodbye back again now there's lovers all around The sun might as well lay down i donÃ,Ã´t need the light it wonÃ,Ã´t be my eyes that tell me if they found fair weather friends

What ever happened to the change of seasons what ever happened to all my reasons to open up my heart and let it be what ever happened to falling in love what ever happened to me

Sun up on the mountains somebody said it happened yesterday but i guess i canÃ,Ã´t remember back that far was not all there but the sky was probably blue doesn't matter when to view depends on where you are what kind of heart you might be looking through Oh and if you care, tell me

What ever happened to the change of seasons
what ever happened to all my reasons
to open up my heart and let it be

what ever happened to me eeee

What ever happened to the change of seasons
what ever happened to all my reasons
to open up my heart and let it be

What ever happened to the change of seasons what ever happened to aaall my reasons Oooh just let it be

Does anyone remember me?
