I keep my memories in a box where they can't be seen
And my hearts behind
That where it be reached
It's been like 10 months haven't picked up your Phone
Now I'm stairin at blank pages trap off alone
At times my inspiration
Now your nothin to me
And when I get a new chick you'll come runnin to me
Sad
Thing is I'll probably drop my girl like a sack
And play the roll of the dumb
Ex that'll always take you back
It's like that, through nights cry
It's like that, through nights cryin and Multiple back stabbings
Somehow my heart will always find some kinda
Compassion
That's way I try to keep my heart straight outta touch
Cuz I've
Seen what you could do don't want another us
A new we? maybe a new you
And
That's a stretch don't forget I've seen what you could do
Just when I pick up
The peices we're back at again
I learned my lesson never again will you be my Girlfriend
You got me up against your wall up against your wall
So I spring
For the exit summer turns into fall
As the seasons change so do you
We never
Say what we think never think what we do
Here we go again I'm right back in This place
I'm constantly tryin my heart reaches for your taste
Your face
Haunts my dreams internalizin my pain
Which leads to hatred not for you but
For this game we play

Although I've wished many of times I could take this Back
I gotta feeling god wants me to be exactly where I'm at
So I reach for
My book my pen bleeds into the page
Outlining my leg where I thought of Carving your name
Not that again I thought hope was the lowest I could Fall
Till she bounced back to me like one of those rubber balls
Then the Fightin the cryin the the her being her
Got my heart on a silver platter like
Dinner is served
You got me up against your wall up against your wall
So I
Spring for the exit summer turns into fall
As the seasons change so do you
We never say what we think never think what we do
