Got your pictures
Constantly reminding me
I won't be sleeping tonight
And this empty feeling I have inside
Lets me know that I was just a waste of time
When you find yourself alone

Come back home
Please come back to me
With open arms
I will receive you

Come back home
Please come back to me
It's been so long
I'm dying to see you

You've taken everything
You've lost yourself
You've never been here before
Your fading faster under sunset skies
Always searching for more
So when you find yourself alone

Come back home
Please come back to me

With open arms
I will receive you

Come back home
Please come back to me
It's been so long
I'm dying to see you

It's getting hard to see you like this
How do I save a love that's fading faster
Head first and heading for disaster

It's getting hard to see you like this

How do I save a love that's fading faster
Head first and heading for disaster

Come back home
Please come back to me
With open arms
I will receive you

Come back home
Please come back to me
It's been so long
I'm dying to see you

Please come back home
Please come back home
Please come back home
I'm dying to see you
