Somewhere inbetween the day and the dreams
I feel I'm loosing the fight
Somewhere inbetween the day and the dreams
I see I can't win with time
Time is my greatest friend, the greatest of enemies
Time is said to heal all wounds; time makes all wounds
bleed
The break of dawn, I'm waking up
Hands groping in the darkness
A while like that, then I stop
Knowing I'd find no one there
I feel the silence's creeping in,
I feel the sheets are cold
It wasn't a dream, it was real,
And there's no hope
Somewhere inbetween the day and the dreams
I feel I'm loosing the fight
Somewhere inbetween the day and the dreams
I see I can't win with timer
Time is my greatest friend, the greatest of enemies
bleed
The fear that I can hear inside
The silence that I'd like to shut out
I'm forming into what I write
What doesn't seem to be mine
I don't think this will bring you back
I'm just keeping my wounds fresh
The phoenix knew that for the egg
One burns the nest
Somewhere inbetween the day and the dreams
I feel I'm loosing the fight
Somewhere inbetween the day and the dreams
I see I can't win with time
Time is my greatest friend, the greatest of enemies
Time is said to heal all wounds; time makes all wounds
bleed
