as rain falls on your feet
you stop and stare
and it's so clear that i want you

i don't know your name
it's all the same
you've got a place in my heart

it looks so good
and maybe it could be
if we both tried
falling apart
could be a start
and i don't mind

the streets do look quite dark they're closing down
something that we started

there's no way to go
we need some light
we need an open space here

it looks so good
and maybe it could be
falling apart
could be a start
and i don't mind

there no time
well there's some time
but it's never the right time

it looks so good
and maybe it could be
falling apart
could be a start
and i don't mind
