forget today and make a new start [let us part from those who get lost] we have to sell our clothes to make us look good [let's part from those who we don't need]

some may stay and some will have to go when you step in
all the light's on you
are we ok as we change into people who will go for you let's leave some space and make a new start [the losers we knew, they are gone at last] we need to make new friends to make us look good [let's part from those who we don't need]

when you step in

and then a surprise
are we twentyeight?
closing in to the thirties still young enough not to look back
