"The Beauty Of The Way We're Living"

i wanted you to know the beauty of the way that we are living as people come and go they always leave us with something it may not be so good but we got marks

we can keep and yes we got away cause you will find we're still here

why do you look so strange?
i always thought of you
as being one of us so it must be true
why do you look so strange?
as being one of us

the beauty of the way that we are losing we'll keep an open space there's always room for that someone or just anyone

what's here and what is good we will throw away some day and in times of looking back you will find you're like me

why do you look so strange?
as being one of us
