sometimes i lack the will to make you smile so much easier to make you cry i know i'm different from them we don't get bored if we can start a fight we won't agree cause there's a chance we might end up feeling old

things we share
lead us somewhere
if something's on our mind we'll say it we won't last long
soon we will be gone
if there's no light in the night there's nothing in darkness and in passion we will live

i say 'you can do what you want' you say you don't care what i do

if there's no light in the night there's nothing
