I come from rock that came from nothing
I come from dead to copulate and condescend
So here I scream in coincidence

And there you listen without hearing a word
Still it took me a year to hear a thing
Have patience as the combination waits

To form one ounce of trust, and your faith the same
I came from dead to copulate and condescend I'll have them all, by law I am not worth more than they So I'll spawn a fortune, I'll spin the web for the last impostor

As it prepares to make its way
Am I not worth more than he they ask?
And Darwin gave you the science to use

Bigotry and come off scholarly

Every word you spend on right is erased by your simple concept
Every word is contradicted by your own teaching
Who is more evolved? One man to what?
So which is it? Who's the one? Who is the one?

You've justified superiority over others who live in the flesh
I am nothing of this, I take my brother in hand
And see through this as anyone with faith does
I can only die in the flesh, I am nothing of this

I come from rock that came from nothing
I come from dead to copulate and condescend
So here I scream in coincidence
And there you listen without hearing a word, have patience
