We never really understand
How quickly life can pass us by
Each breath we take for granted
And we do it cause it feels right
There's patterns in the way we say hello
And when we say goodbye
Goodbye

Tell all your stories
And sing all your songs [x2]

I heard once there's
A time and place for everything
But lately there's been no change at all

And I'm not used to the silence of dreaming
And I'm starting to think
That we'll never wake up
With these fevers and blindfolds
Knotted so tight
I'm no doctor
And I'm no surgeon
I wont walk in and say that everything is fine

So tell all your stories
And sing all your songs [x4]
