[Chorus]

And I know, even if your hope is gone
You belong, you belong to me, to me.
I'm coming home and I know it won't be long
Before you belong, you belong to me.

I'm building a castle
On the beaches where
The ocean's turtles come
To rest under the sun

You bury your head in the sand,
Waiting for your boy
To understand how to be a man
'Cause love is not enough.

I've combed the ocean floors
For the dreams that we lost
The fears that we buried
The world just feels so small
I'll leave it all behind because

[Chorus]

I know, even if your hope is gone
You belong, you belong to me, to me.
I'm coming home and I know it won't be long
Before you belong, you belong to me.

I don't even know how I let you run so far,
But I'll run after you until your legs give up.
And I'll carry you all the way home,
Back where we belong.
You've given up but I still got enough hope for us.

In the desert glow I saw
A man without any clothes
And his heart in this hands
He said: "All you need to know
Is never let go, never let go".

[Chorus]

And I know, even if your hope is gone

You belong, you belong to me, to me.
I'm coming home and I know it won't be long
Before you belong, you belong to me.

Don't turn away
Just show me your face again,
'Cause I'm starting to forget
I can't live with this regret.
The time will come when we will find our place again.
Into my arms back where you belong,
Into my arms back where you belong again.

[Chorus]
And I know, even if your hope is gone
You belong, you belong to me, to me.
I'm coming home and I know it won't be long
Before you belong, you belong to me.

I'm coming home and I know it won't be long,
Before you belong
You belong to me.
