I need to get away from here
I really need to disappear
I got to live in constant fear

When all my days have come to be I've only got my legacy will you be there to comfort me?

There was an army out of light that came at night
to tell me what I should do
"Put on your everlasting armor made of marble
in your battle debut"

How will I make up what to say the day the masses come to stay will I be a million miles away?

There was an army out of light that came at night
to tell me what I should do
"Put on your everlasting armor made of marble
in your battle debut"
