Only a fool's unwise
I don't know why I should be so surprised
God knows what we've done

Much better to be late than too soon
You know you never get much running room
And just when you're having fun
Someone comes along

Just when you're having fun

Just as my life goes according to plan
And I thought I had love in the palm of my hand

Because I have no tears
This whole thing must be your idea
Don't make me confess

I know my limits well
So long ago they were shot to hell
Just let me rest with you
That's all I want to do

Just when you're having fun

Just as my intentions have become worthwhile
And I've taken the steps to be walked down the aisle

Just as I stand tall from out of my seat
And the ground has come up firmly under my feet

Just when, just when you're having fun
