Well, she woke up from a weird dream
I don't know, half asleep
I try to speak about it all
Another one about a babe from back in the day

Get a strange look from a girl who looked uptight
All night, I guess I did nothing right
If she doesn't beat me, well brother she tried
If she isn't screaming, she doesn't belong inside

Saint Jerome, I don't ever ever wanna be alone
I don't ever ever wanna be alone, oh Saint Jerome
Come home

Take a long walk down a short block
Turn around, go back and lose her pound for pound
Man, you wouldn't believe what I wouldn't believe

Now you return in a rain coat, riverboat
Show up late dressed like a domino
Your eyes, they never looked so good at me

Saint Jerome, I don't ever ever wanna be alone
I don't ever ever wanna be alone, oh Saint Jerome
Come home

Saint Jerome, I don't ever ever wanna be alone
Saint Jerome
Oh Saint Jerome, I don't ever ever wanna be alone
Oh Saint Jerome
Come home

He wants to know what he doesn't know
Mmmm
He doesn't know what he wants to know
Mmmm
And for a change he's not coming home
