All my charities belong to you
Watching dolphins in your sea
The earth is a pretty place to be
All my charities belong to thee

Black bodies float in the sea
We can see but he can't see me
A starlit shroud like the dark to you
Laughter echoes in my private room

Kissing fireflies on a beach
How sweet that we can be
Everyone has love to give
Our hearts will teach us how to live

My body wept
I feel so free
The water softly tickles me
My heart is pounding waiting for
The ocean deep enough to lift my veil

Crystal light shine down on us
God has a voice she speaks through me
Every creature longs to be
In his arms please carry me

I am happy in the light of day
My skin glows bright in the sunrays
My shadowed world seems so far away

My angel taught me not to fear
Love is free and everywhere
Listen to that special part
It will save us, it's the heart

God has a voice he speaks through me
God has a voice she speaks through me
Crystal light in every creature
Crystal light in every creature
Everyone has love to give
